Human4 Point 4 1 Mike A Lancaster

Human.4 was suspenseful from beginning to end, both surprising and heartbreaking in so many ways (I had more than a few lumps in my throat, and actually shed tears at the end). The author chose a unique way of telling the story-within-a-story (as a transcription of antiquated cassette tapes) that allowed him to leave many questions unanswered, yet not leave me frustrated about it.

Book Talk: Human.4

Lastly, Mike's writing was great for a debut author. I thought he did a great job of developing a thoroughly hashed out plot and characters in only 200 or so pages, so I'm excited to see what's next for him book wise. In all, if you love science fiction and world that are so believable they are scary, Human.4 is the book for you! Grade: B

HUMAN .4 Mike A. Lancaster ... As the story is told from Kyle's POV (point-of-view) and there's a lot he doesn't know, this makes sense but it does leave a lot to the imagination. For readers looking for more science fiction in YA, this is definitely a story we haven't seen before.
